The Beauty of the Commonplace
The address by the Rev. Mr. North Tuesday evening, in which he set forth the beautiful in commonplace and ordinary things of life, was a powerful sermon rather than the usual commencement speech—powerful because it dealt with and reached down to the foundation of true happiness, as far as we have it in this good, green world.

When we have learned that plain, everyday things are best; that wholesome days full to the brim with work, some play, and quietude are the days most to be desired; when we have ceased to yearn for the unattainable, and have become satisfied with our own small possessions; when our hearts can take delight in "sunset and evening star," in rain and cloud and wayside flower, then we have indeed found joy and blessed contentment.

Commencement Time

Now we are come to that season of the year when the sweet girl graduate, with her organdies and crepe de chimes, and the grave young lad in cap and gown, are queen and king indeed. Hail to the conquering hero—and heroine. Is there ever a time in life when we are so perfectly full of knowledge as at graduating time? As we travel along—in after years we manage to realize as it were, certain portions of it, until having arrived at middle age, or thereabout, we discover that there is a thing or two we perhaps did not know before. In other words, to quote the poet, "Knowledge comes, but Wisdom lingers."

Howsoever all that may be, parents and teachers, aunts and uncles, and even small brothers and sisters make obeisance to the reigning sovereigns—in June. And again we cry, "All Hail!"

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS AT THE DIXIE TONIGHT

The way in which audiences are receiving Douglas Fairbanks in "The Nut" at the different theatres testifies to the ever growing popularity of this high-gear star. He will appear here tonight and tomorrow night at the Dixie Theatre.

Although his innumerable predicaments provoke laughter and occasion such remarks as "The poor Nut," yet there is never a time when the watchers are not "with him" to the end, hoping that his next effort at wooing will succeed.

Winsome Marguerite De La Motte is winning high plaudits, and Barbara La Marr is promising to establish a new kind of film "vamping" with her charm. The spectacular and highly amusing manner in which William Lowery helps the agile "DOUG" put over the denouement of the picture will establish his brand of film villainy as something for all other screen hiss-receivers to aspire to.

Show starts promptly at 8:15 o'clock. Prices 25 and 35c.

Daughterly Is Now Able To Stay On Job

Declares He Is In Finest Health Since Tanlac Completely Relieved Him Of Distressing Stomach Trouble—Gives Public Facts in Case.

I feel like a different person since taking Tanlac and am now able to stay on the job all day long," said J. H. Daughtrey, 320 W. 19th St., Norfolk, Va., for fourteen years with the Hampton Roads Paper Co.

"I suffered a long time with indigestion and got worse until I was badly run down. Everything I ate disagreed with me and I would bloat up with gas which pressed against my heart and lungs so it was all I could do to get my breath. I was so nervous it was impossible for me to get a good night's sleep and I always got up with a bad taste in my mouth and all worn out."

"A Tanlac statement impressed me so I decided to try it, and I began to improve almost at the start. I now have a splendid appetite, that sluggish tired feeling has left me and my sleep is good and sound. I get up every morning feeling fine and ready for a big day's work. Tanlac sure is a wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

MRS. R. H. GRAY GIVES PARTY

On Thursday evening from 8.30 to 11 o'clock an usually attractive party was given by Mrs. R. H. Gray at her home on Roanoke Street in honor of her house guest, Miss Muriel White of Newark, N. J. The house was beautifully decorated with pot plants and cut flowers.

As the guests arrived, they were met at the door by Miss Frances White and Mr. Eugene Whitehead who introduced them to the honor guest. After greeting these the guests were directed to the extreme end of the porch, where delicious fruit punch was served by Miss Mary Lou Lewis and Mr. Claude Kitchen, Jr.

The guests were then asked to retire to the front room and draw their fortunes from the big heart that was placed on the centre table. Each girl and boy pulled a string and read the fate that Cupid had destined for them. On the back of the fortunes were the tables and couples for the game of the evening, "Hearts." After several tables had won sufficient "hearts," Mr. John Josey furnished music for the guests while a few couples danced, after which Mr. Josey and Miss Muriel White rendered a few instrumental duets which were enjoyed very much. While the guests were enjoying the music, a delicious ice course, cream and cake were served.

Those present were: Misses Muriel White of Newark, N. J. Mary Tillery, Doris Tillery, Virginia Tillery, Mary Shields, Ethel Madry, Nellie Russell, Lucille White, Mary Louise Outterbridge, Mary Lou Lewis, Katherine Shields, Lois Speed, Elizabeth Josey, Ellen Meredith and Frances White. Messrs. John Josey, Ennis Bryan, Henry Edwards, Francis Lewis, Robert Shields of Hobgood, Spencer Lewis, Hubert Riddick, Claude Kitchen, Jr., Jim Ed Condrey, Leon Madry, Willie Dunn, Rufus Shaw, and Eugene Whitehead.
